2,000 ATTEND SYMPHONY HALL FESTIVAL CONCERT

On Saturday evening, April 13, the Governor Dummer Academy Glee Club appeared in the second annual concert of The New England Preparatory School Music Festival Chorus at Symphony Hall, Boston. Dr. Archibald T. Davison of Harvard University conducted the Chorus, and the New England Conservatory Orchestra provided the accompaniment. The program included: In Windsor Forest, a cantata arranged by Vaughan Williams from his own opera Sir John in Love; Handel's L'Allegro, a setting for Milton's poem; and four chorales harmonized by Johann Sebastian Bach. The auditorium of Symphony Hall was well-filled for the concert, about 2,000 persons attending.

Mr. Arthur W. Sager, director of Governor Dummer's Glee Club, acted as business manager for the committee in charge of preparations for the concert. The Festival Chorus included the glee clubs of the following schools: Beaver Country Day School; Dana Hall; Walnut Hill School; Milton Academy; Phillips Academy, Andover; Phillips Exeter Academy; and Governor Dummer Academy.

DAVID MORTON ADDRESSES ACADEMY AND GUESTS

Mr. David Morton, former Amherst professor and 'poet laureate' of New England, spoke to the students, faculty and guests of the Academy in the Cobb Room on Friday evening, April 26. He chose as his topic the curious irrelevancy of lyric poetry considered in the light of contemporary circumstances. By seeking inspiration in the humblest aspects of our lives, the lyric poet achieves in his work a timelessness akin to the basic order of our world. In the poet's words:

"How now, the irrelevant daffodil,
The ignorant crocus, as of old,
The sweet bird calling from the hill?
These, it must be, were not told."

Vespers

March 31: Reverend Daniel Boone of the Ascension Memorial Church, Ipswich

April 7: Reverend A. Graham Baldwin, School Minister of Phillips Academy, Andover.

April 14: Dr. William E. Park, President of the Northfield Schools, Northfield.

April 21: Dr. Robbins W. Barstow of the World Council of Churches, New York.

April 28: Dr. Everett C. Herrick, President of The Andover-Newton Theological Seminary.

* * *

Mr. Boone stated that there is a great deal of life which is just plain drudgery. We must learn to take the pleasant with the unpleasant and do our jobs even when they grow monotonous. He also pointed out that, in order to keep our ideals alive, we must be willing to sacrifice some things, and that we can only become distinguished persons if we keep ourselves at the top level of our abilities.

* * *

Mr. Baldwin spoke of the importance of the individual. In the modern trend toward collectivism we are often inclined to feel that, as individuals, we are of little importance. We do, however, count a great deal to ourselves, to our families, to our school, and to the world. Only by realizing this and doing our best to be worthwhile can we successfully play our part in life.

Dr. Park said that this is not the century of the 'common man' as it is often called. It is the century of the 'uncommon man.' Each of us is unique and wants to be considered so. As individuals we cannot be duplicated. We must preserve our individuality and strive to avoid becoming common. This we can achieve by participating unselfishly in our communities, by putting adventure before security, and by making goodwill the basis for our relationships with other people.

* * *

Dr. Barstow spoke of Easter as symbolic of the resurrection of our civilization. Europe today is trying to pull herself together after a fourfold destruction, destruction of life and property, of social organization, of economic stability, and of spiritual values. Through the shadow of this hell on earth there shines a ray of hope, the hope for a new Easter. As Americans we are in a good position to make this ray of hope expand into the full light of a new day, not only for Europe, but for the world.

* * *

Dr. Herrick called for the education of the heart as well as the mind. He said few of us realize what it is to be hungry. Boys are hungry all the time, but not with the stark hunger which now prevails over much of the world. Not by brilliant intellects but by open hearts and hands will the peace be won. We must share all that we can if we are to justify and maintain our self-respect. The needs of the world lie exposed. We must answer them willingly and proudly. This is America's debt to mankind.

GLEE CLUB SINGS IN JOINT CONCERT WITH WALNUT HILL

On Saturday evening, April 20, the Governor Dummer Glee Club gave a joint concert with the Walnut Hill Glee Club at Natick. The combined groups sang two Bach chorales and two choruses from the cantata "Sir John in Love" by Vaughan Williams. The Walnut Hill singers, under the direction of Mr. Arthur W. Sager, director of the Governor Dummer Glee Club, then gave a fine rendition of the beautiful and difficult "Blessed Damosel" by Debussy. Highlight of the evening was the singing of the "Easter Parade" with the boys taking the melody and the girls providing a counter-melody.

This number closed with the singers marching down from the platform, the girls in Easter bonnets and the boys in high silk hats.

CLOTHING DRIVE CONDUCTED FOR EUROPEAN RELIEF

On January 20, Dr. Alfred Stearns, former headmaster of Phillips Academy, Andover, made an appeal to the students of this school to lend their support to relief measures for less fortunate school children overseas. In response to this appeal a clothing drive was conducted just before Spring Recess, and the three large crates of clothing which were collected are to be sent to a European school. The committee in charge consisted of Charles Stevens, chairman, David Flavin and Gorton Baldwin.

EDITORIAL

The question sometimes arises: "How shall I spend my spare time?" There are certain times, particularly during the weekends when we find ourselves with no specific occupation for several consecutive hours. Usually it is no problem to use up such hours. But, because the Academy and the neighboring countryside offer so many opportunities for pleasant use of leisure, it is probably worthwhile to think a little bit about these opportunities and decide whether or not we are making the most of them for our own enjoyment.

Beyond the boundaries of the Academy lie special attractions open to students with a few hours to spend. Angling enthusiasts will find good fishing, both fresh and salt water, within less than a mile of the school. Alewives and herring run in a tidal stream about a mile distant. Those fellows who like to hike or bicycle or make amateur photographic expeditions will find the neighborhood well equipped for their hobbies. In the late spring and early fall swimming is available in several nearby places.

The school itself is thoroughly prepared to meet the pastime requirements of the fellows. Golf fans will find the school links excellent. The rifle range attracts large numbers of students every weekend. The tennis courts are well frequented by aspiring racqueteers. And all the athletic fields and other school grounds are at the disposal of those who seek less formal outdoor activities. For those who find their pleasure indoors, the radio in the school store is always ready to oblige with a double-header baseball event, or music or other entertainment. The school pianos are available at all times for practice or pleasure, and the Carnegie Foundation phonograph and record library give music lovers a further chance to satisfy their inner longings. The browsing library in the Cobb Room has a wide variety of books calculated to suit all kinds of fellows in all kinds of moods. Those who prefer to bring their athletics indoors may repair to the game room on the third floor of the Phillips Building and there while away the time at billiards or pingpong.

With spring in the air it is to be hoped that more and more fellows will make use of the outdoor facilities of the school and of the neighborhood. If, on the other hand, weather conditions sometimes prevent us from going out, we have still a wide choice of ways in which to spend our free time.

GOVERNORS LOSE OPENER TO STONEHAM HIGH, 6-4

The Governor Dummer baseball team opened its 1946 season with a 6-4 loss to the Stoneham High School nine on Morse Field, April 13. Poor weather conditions had limited pre-season practice to a minimum, and the home team failed to score on several promising occasions as a result of inexperience. Stoneham's team was competent and aggressive and played heads-up ball throughout the game. Defensively the Governors played well with Fritz Freeman and Eddie Nichols dividing the pitching chores.

TENNIS TEAM PLAYS MIDDLESEX TO 3-3 TIE

On Saturday, April 20, the Governor Dummer tennis team played its first game of the season against a competent Middlesex aggregation on the home courts. The match ended in a 3-3 tie after the two teams had split honors evenly in both singles and doubles. Captain Joe Welch was outstanding for the Governors, first winning in singles, and then in doubles with John Morgan.
